Powering Asia's Next Generation of Pet Food: From Formula to Factory

As the pet food industry across Asia enters a new era of growth and innovation, the Pet Food Extrusion & Nutrition Conference brings together the minds shaping what's next.

From cutting-edge extrusion technologies to the latest advances in pet nutrition, this one-day technical conference connects formulation experts, production specialists, and industry leaders along the entire value chain—creating valuable opportunities for networking and knowledge exchange.

Explore how science, processing, and market demand come together to create smarter, more efficient, and more sustainable pet food solutions.

Join us to exchange insights, build meaningful connections, challenge conventions, and power the next generation of pet food—from formula to factory.
